

metabolism menu Minerals: the natural and easy way to look and feel your best

Posted by Juli Novotny - 2009/09/27 14:27

Are you happy with the state of your health? The current state of the nutritional supplement industry is one of disarray as is the case with the medical profession. Linus Pauling, PhD and winner of two Nobel Prizes, has said every disease can be linked to a mineral deficiency. Based on this belief, Eidon Inc., San Diego, CA, has launched a line of 13 liquid minerals. In conjunction, we have united with Bio-Trend Technologies in order to provide the public with a hair mineral analysis for a nominal fee. Mineral levels in the hair correspond to the levels of those minerals in the body. The test results show low and/or excess levels of minerals detected in the body, possible indications of the body's ability to utilize certain minerals, mineral ratios, and finally which important dietary and supplement changes are needed by each individual to help balance current mineral levels. A computerized supplement menu is provided to each customer that tells correct times, and directions for fruitful results on reaching mineral equilibrium. Together we have pioneered a revolutionary new balancing system that provides the necessary essential minerals in a totally tasteless, liquid, bioavailable format. Please, read the article below and learn more about health, the body, and the importance of minerals. Thanks so much for your time and I hope you are interested in further information. Please check out the website: www.eidon.com I would be happy to supply you with samples and test kits or more literature. If you are interested in carrying our products and hair test kits in your store or office, or would like to discuss literature sales or article write-ups, please contact me immediately via email or phone. I can supply you with wholesale and retail price lists. And for more mineral health information listen to Stayin' Alive the Eidon Way with Rick Wagner, President of Eidon, Inc. and Jack Grogan, every Saturday mornings at 10AM.

ARTICLE: The current status of the nutritional supplement industry is one of disarray as is the case with the medical profession. Literally every drug and supplement is designed to treat a particular symptom. Normally when we go to see a doctor, it is to get assistance in correcting a problem. Our doctor normally recommends some form of drug. If, or when the drug prescribed doesn't work, we may begin to do our own research. This is when we get engaged with the nutritional supplement arena. We may take one or more supplements, based on articles we've read, or information from friends, relatives, or other health professionals to try to correct our problems. At least when we take supplements, we feel we are giving our body basic compounds required to maintain optimal health. In either case we are only guessing as to what might be wrong and hope we are giving the body what it truly needs. Finding a solution is a hit or miss and blindly taking a supplement that worked for somebody else, is not a solution, but a gamble. The solution is to find out the mineral that YOU need; mineral balance is key to optimal health. Dr. Linus Pauling, winner of two Nobel Prizes, recognized the significance of minerals years ago when he said; you can trace every sickness, every disease, and every ailment to a mineral deficiency. This also means that vitamins, herbs hormones, and other products are secondary to the importance of minerals. Minerals work in a precise balance or ratio to one another. Too much or too little of even a trace mineral can decrease the effectiveness of a formula by limiting the availability of the other minerals. Minerals work as a team, together responsible for healthy functioning of all living cells, energy production, fluid balance, normal growth, the formation and activation of hormones, bone formation, the rate of healing and the health and balance of every cell and tissue in the body. A healthy balance of minerals allows for a more efficient, balanced and health metabolism. Hence by singling out one mineral as a cure is not a solution, in fact too much of one mineral can put you even more off balance. Large doses of iron, for example, reduce copper levels or make copper less available. Ideally we should get what we need through our diets. But the reality is that mineral deficiencies are common due to deficient soil mineral content, food processing and health deficient diets. Similarly, environmental factors contribute to mineral imbalances because of toxic mineral exposure. Also important is that individual requirements for minerals vary with age, stress, diet, and state of health. Since hair is a living, metabolically active tissue, mineral levels in the hair correspond to the levels of those minerals in the body. An accurate hair mineral analysis can provide the health conscious consumer with valuable information including:

1. Low and/or excess levels of minerals.
2. A possible indication of the body's ability to utilize certain minerals.
3. Toxic levels of undesirable elements including lead, arsenic, mercury, cadmium and aluminum.
4. mineral ratios can be established that indicate metabolic balance.
5. which important dietary and supplement changes are needed by each individual to help balance their current mineral levels.

Eidon, Inc. and Bio-Trend technologies pioneered the revolutionary Eidon Mineral Balancing Program. It provides the health conscious consumer with:

1. the ability to monitor their own current mineral status using a noninvasive hair mineral analysis.
2. A personalized, computerized report of the test results provided by Bio-Trend Technologies that will assist in the designing of a mineral balancing support program for each individual.
3. And the necessary essential minerals in a totally tasteless, liquid, bioavailable format. The line consists of pure elemental minerals mixed with purified water (which has been treated via reverse osmosis and then purified by ozone).

Eidon's minerals are sourced from the raw ore found in the earth. They are converted into an ionic state and reduced to an incredibly small size. At this size and configuration the elemental atoms remain in perpetual suspension, and they are not bound to any ligands or other carriers such as citrates, carbonates, aspartates, or picolines. Consequently, the body can transport them utilizing different absorption pathways and put them to use almost immediately. The end result is a highly purified, bio-available individual mineral, which can be and is readily absorbed by the body's tissue lending itself very well to Eidon's Mineral Balancing Program. Stay tuned for the next email series and latest information on heart disease and minerals. Or reply to this email to be taken off the list. Salud, Eidon Email: julinovo...@hotmail.com How healthy are you really? Linus Pauling Ph.D. and winner of two Nobel Prizes, believed fervently in the importance of mineral balancing as evidenced by the following statement... You can trace every sickness, every disease, and every ailment to a mineral deficiency. Until now, the knowledge needed to balance one's minerals existed in the minds of only a few professionals who spent many years studying minerals and their beneficial impact on human health. Additionally, the ability to customize a program of mineral balancing was non-existent. Lastly, access to all of the essential minerals in a 100% liquid, bio-available format did not exist. This system is now available through Eidon. Every person has different mineral needs based upon: 1. Age 2. Metabolism 3. Sex 4. Diet 5. Life Stresses Naturally, each individual's needs for essential minerals will change from year to year as the above elements change. Eidon's Mineral Balancing Program provides the health conscious consumer with: 1. The ability to monitor their own current mineral status using a non-invasive hair analysis. 2. A personalized, computerized report of the analysis provided by Bio-Trend Technologies that will assist in the designing of a mineral balancing support program for each individual. 3. The complete Eidon product line of single minerals available to choose from that will support the appropriate mineral balance as noted in each individual's analysis. Eidon's objective is to make available for each consumer a customized mineral balancing program that will both determine and provide which Eidon single mineral nutrients are needed to achieve optimal balance. The Eidon Mineral Balancing Program enables the consumer to evaluate their current diet and nutritional program and adjust it accordingly.

---

=====

metabolism menu Minerals: the natural and easy way to look and feel your best

Posted by Falcon - 2009/09/27 14:27

---

www.look-great.com

=====